HIS LOSS WAS HEAVY

RETURN OF MR. MASSIE FROM THE PHILIPPINES

The Destruction of His Property in E. O. Hall & Son's Fire Changed His Plans.

Rev. W. M. Massie, who taught school for many years at Waimea, Kauai, and lately went to Manila, surprised his acquaintances in Honolulu yesterday when he landed from the steamer Coptic.

It was Mr. Massie's intention, if he found the Philippine situation not over inviting, to proceed to Australia. He had only been in Manila about two weeks and was just going to embark for Australia, when word reached him of the great loss he had sustained in Honolulu by the fire that destroyed E. O. Hall & Son's store. This intelligence he so sickening a blow to him that he decided to return here, as he did not feel like going to a strange country bare of his most treasured possessions.

"I would not take $1000 for my library alone," said Mr. Massie when questioned this morning. It contained 800 volumes and took ten years to collect. Probably it was the best theological library in Honolulu. There were scrapbooks besides, which can never be replaced.

Mr. Massie is a Congregational minister and at Waimea held regular services. Besides his library he lost in the Hall fire a quantity of table silverware, crystal, linen, etc., together with valuable family heirlooms, portraits of his father and mother, so that his loss was altogether irreparable.

Only the day before Mr. Massie left Honolulu he had taken his property out of storage and placed it in Hall's basement, where he deemed it perfectly secure.

Mr. Massie says his intentions for the future are not settled.

At Manila he met H. S. Townsend, formerly Inspector General of Schools of the Hawaiian Islands, and Mrs. Townsend who recently went to the Philippines. Mr. Townsend has been given superintendency of the schools on Mindanao Island. Mrs. Townsend is lone some amidst the changed scenes.

Drummer—It is pretty hard to get a drink in this town, isn't it?
 Landlord (Kansas hotel)—You bet. Why, you can't even work the snake bite racket any more unless you carry the snake to the drug store and let him bite you in the presence of a committee.—Puck.

"The idea of a man holding one office entering upon a campaign for another one!" exclaimed the politician. "It's outrageous. He can't help using his official position to advance his own interests." "But the man in question has just resigned." "What! resigned! Well, that's a despicable trick to gain public favor. I didn't think he would do such a thing."—Chicago Post.

This plan of dispensing with a boss is said to work well and to have a wholesome and stimulating effect upon the workers. A system of time cards enables each worker to keep his own record, which is criticized, amended and indorsed at the weekly meetings, and all payments are based on the number of hours so returned.
